

Pupillage

Every lawyer-to-be deserves a firm foundation laid at the very outset of his or her journey to practice, starting with their experience as pupils-in-chambers. Consequently, we strive to actively nurture and develop our pupils' skills. A pupil who successfully secures a position with us can look forward to:

- a wide array of challenging work
- in-house training and seminars
- a thorough grounding in the practical elements of drafting, negotiating, procedure and advocacy
- a collegiate environment
- a generous allowance

To make each pupil's contribution and development count, we limit the total number of pupils in each intake at our firm. A highly selective, merit-based recruitment policy applies.

At the same time, a pupil's integrity, brilliance, flair and commitment to high standards will not go unnoticed, as the firm traditionally seeks to retain its best pupils as lawyers. We believe in building long-lasting relationships, and we understand the value of an environment that enables rewarding careers – after all, 11 out of the firm's 13 partners chambered with the firm!

Attachment or internship

We welcome keen students pursuing their tertiary or professional qualifications to get to know us better through less formal "summer attachments" and "mini-pupillage" stints.
